Editorial

D. R. College, Golaghat, is a premier higher educational institution of Assam. The college has attained its fame and glory as one of the select institutions of higher education since its inception in 1949. We feel privileged to state that the college has always succeeded in bringing about a healthy academic environment in greater Golaghat.

Today, numerous changes have occurred in the global socio-economic scenario. The higher educational institutions also are faced with multitudinous challenges because of the direct entry of the forces of globalization in the education sector. The global market forces emphasize more on creation of manpower that are trained to cater the industrial needs. We are aware that the higher educational institutions must meet the challenges that they have faced. With this objective in view, our college has taken certain plans and programmes, introduced some vocational courses that are expected to enable the students to mould their careers and acquire overall skill and competence that they will essentially require to fulfil their hopes and aspirations. Besides such academic activities, the college has taken different programmes at different times to motivate the students to imbibe a sense of social obligation and duty. The students, the teachers, the employees and the alumni of the college have already done a good number of 'social welfare' works which have received appreciation and applause from almost all quarters of the society. We believe that the college has made adequate efforts towards doing justice to the society at large.

The teachers of the college have attended various national and international seminars and their research papers have been published in different national and international journals. The teachers have also published a sizeable number of books and articles. The results of the students in the degree final examinations have always been encouraging and it is primarily because of the achievements of teachers and students that the college came to be accredited with 'Grade-A' by NAAC in 2010, and has been selected by UGC as a 'College With Potential for Excellence'.

We are confident that the college will halt nowhere on its onward march towards attainment of 'Excellence'.

From the Desk of PRINCIPAL

It is a matter of great pleasure for me that I am putting in a few lines in the Newsletter as Head of the Institution. I really feel privileged to have witnessed the remarkable journey of progress made by our institution during the period of my first three years. The academic grandeur and institutional strength of our age-old institution have already been strengthened due to improvement of classroom and laboratory facilities in both Arts and Science, library automation, setting up e-learning resources, improvement of computer laboratory facility etc. to name a few. It is a matter of great pride that over the last few years, our stakeholders have benefited a lot from the new environment facilitated by increased automation and digitisation of learning facilities in the college. It is nice to see how our students' strength has increased, not just in numbers but also in composition, a part of which is formed by students coming even from far flung areas of the state. As you know, we have successfully implemented the first phase and second phase of UPE action plan and we are going to continue our march to become a Centre of Excellence, slowly but definitely. As usual, I would again like to call upon the stakeholders of our college to co-operate and integrate themselves in the ongoing efforts towards up gradation and innovation of the institution.
